

DEDICATION

To all those who have walked the talk to make the world of breastfeeding possible - the mothers who have practiced breastfeeding, the mothers who came out into the streets, the health professionals, the activists, the artists, the students, the volunteers, and the countless nameless people - who by being in the streets and actually carrying out the boycott have showed that another world is possible.

